

Photovoltaic solar panel dispute case

Overview

The Opposition Division at the European Patent Office has revoked a patent at the centre of a dispute between Chinese solar panel manufacturers Chint and JingAo Solar. The decision could impact an upcoming hearing at the Unified Patent Court. Installing photovoltaic panels at home or nearby can sometimes become a real headache. Many people find themselves helpless when faced with defective work. Maxeon Solar and Aiko have settled their global dispute shortly before a scheduled UPC judgment. 11 February 2026 by Konstanze Richter Chinese photovoltaic manufacturer Aiko Energy will now take. Solar panels (photovoltaic modules) are susceptible to microcracks —tiny fractures in the silicon cells that are often invisible to the naked eye but can cause: Reduced energy output Accelerated degradation of modules Early failure under thermal cycling or mechanical stress Warranty claims and. The main goal of this paper is to examine the nature and sources of recent trade disputes in the solar photovoltaic sector, which is the most dynamically growing sector in the green energy industry. The dispute between Chint and JingAo Solar concerns the. Solar panel innovation involves photovoltaic (PV) cells, thin-film technology, inverters, anti-reflective coatings, and manufacturing processes.
